CRITICISM ON A CHAIN LETTER.

"O! Lord, Jesus Christ, we implore you. O! Eternal Holiness have mercy upon all mankind. Purify us from all sin by your precious blood and take us to be with you eternally. Amen. O! Jesus Christ we implore you O! Eternal Lord have mercy upon us and ours. Deliver us from all evil through your precious blood. Oh Jerusalem! Holy name."

A voice was heard to say that they who write this prayer shall be delivered from every calamity. One who heard and paid no attention to it was punished by an accident. They who write this prayer for nine days and deliver through the mail beginning the day they receive it sending only one each day shall receive great joy after nine days.

A copy of the above letter is being circulated over the country promiscuously, with no name signed or post office at the head.

Those who receive them are sometimes puzzled to know what to do.

I do not know who the author of the production is. He or she may be honest, but they are giving some people unnecessary trouble in writing the nine letters who perhaps fearing some calamity might come upon them if they do not write them.

With a view of helping those who may receive such letters and who may have some superstitious about them, I write the following criticism:

The author claims that "a voice was heard to say that they who write this prayer shall be delivered from every calamity; one who heard and paid no attention to it was punished by an accident."

Now those who copy this letter and send to others without knowing the author or anything as to the truth of the statement is taking a leap in the dark.

Those who claim to have some new revelation from heaven ought to read the last chapter of Revelations, 18th, verse, "If any man shall add unto these things God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book."

The author of the above production has added a new revelation (so claimed) and God's anathema rests upon him or her. It costs 18 cents to send the nine letters through the mail and it takes a bit of time to write them.

The Lord Jesus teaches us when we pray to say, Our Father who art in heaven, etc. This prayer is addressed to the Lord Jesus Christ. We should ask the Father in his name.

If any of those who have written the letters according to directions and have received any great blessing, speak out and don't be afraid to sign your name.

If the author of that production should see this criticism don't be afraid to tell who you are and what your object is in putting such a document before the public.

The author says, "one who heard and paid no attention was punished by an accident." Now every one that copies that statement may be telling a falsehood, because accidents happen to those who never heard of that letter, and to claim that our Heavenly Father would send a calamity on any for not writing nine letters in nine days, as threatened is a b s u r d. Read Luke 9, 53-60.

GRADYVILLE.

J. A. Diddle spent a day or so at Exie last week.

Jeff. Grady, of Park, was here last week buying sheep.

Miss Clara and James Wilmore spent Saturday and Sunday at Sulphur Well.

Rev. G. Y. Wilson and wife returned from Monticello Saturday.

J. A. Diddle and J. J. Hunter were in Columbia Saturday.

Sam Lewis passed through here Friday with two well-loaded wagons of produce enroute to Glasgow.

Rev. John Denton, of Texas, preached a very interesting sermon at Big Creek church last Sunday.

Born, to the wife of W. B. Sexton, on June 28, a son.

Miss Cora Dowell accompanied by Mr. Will Hill spent last Sunday at Sulphur Well.

C. O. Moss was on the sick list a day or so last week.

L. C. Hindman and wife were in Columbia last Thursday.

L. S. Smith spent Saturday at Sulphur Well.

Smith & Nell shipped three car loads of cattle Saturday.

Dr. James Menzies and wife, of Columbia, passed through here Saturday enroute for Red Lick where they will spend several days visiting.

Mr. Brud Eubank and wife, of Columbia, were the guests of Mr. J. J. Hunter and family a day or so last week.

L. M. Wilmore made a trip to Horse Cave last week.

Geo. H. Nell and "Aunt" Sis Patteson started for the good old State of Texas Monday.

R. Keltner, while enroute for this place Saturday, killed 35 snakes and it was not a good day for snakes either.

Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Taylor and son spent a few days visiting at Montpelier last week.

Mrs. Mattie Downs and daughter, Miss Nellie, of Falls City, Neb., returned home Tuesday after a visit of a week or more at this place.

Mrs. Ella Robertson was very ill last week.

Wm Orr, Geo. Dudley and M. B. Keltner, of Pickett Chapel community, attended the Masonic Lodge at this place Saturday.

Lightning struck and killed a very valuable work mule of Dr. L. C. Nell on last Sunday afternoon. A barn of James Keltner, also was struck but no damage was done.

Rev. W. H. C. Sandidge stopped over for dinner at the Wilmore House last Monday on his return from Edmonton.

Mrs. Luther Roach has been in a very critical condition with fever the past week.

Our farmers made good use of the hot sun shine last week by putting their wheat in the stack.

Mr. Wm Stotts, in company with Mr. Paxton, of Texas, put in last Sunday very pleasantly with our old bachelor friend, J. M. Wilson. There is not a place on Big Creek where you can be made to feel more pleasant than in the home of Wilson and his estimable sister, Miss Julia.

Mrs. Jane Turk spent a few days with her old neighbors in the Bliss community.

I have today marked down a lot of lawns and white goods to close out at a bargain. 84c lawns go at 5; 124 lawns, 74 cents. W. L. WALKER.

GREEN RIVER FARM FOR SALE.

My farm 1 mile south of Little Lake on Green river containing 304 acres 1 mile from church and school. Good buildings of all kinds, 2 good orchards and is a desirable home. Has ample timber for keeping up the farm and $400 of merchantable timber standing. There are 48 acres of bottom land worth more than I ask for the entire farm. This is your chance if you want a good home and profitable farm. W. L. RIGNEY, Purdy Ky. 26-4m

FOR SALE: I offer my farm containing 100 acres, upon which is a dwelling, all necessary outbuildings and a good orchard and plenty of good water. It is located three miles west of Columbia and well timbered. T. R. PRICE, Columbia, Ky.

R. K. Young bought 118 stock ewes of Charley Campbell, at $3.50 per head. Twenty head of 1000 pound cattle of G. N. Allen at $3.35 per cwt. He sold 425 head of sheep in Lincoln county at from $3 to $4 per head.

John Calhoun sold 2 two-year-old mules at Campbellville for $225.—Milltown Correspondent.

L. C. Hurt sold Walker Bryant, agent for the Standard Lumber Company, six acres of land, lying near the roller mill, for $1,000.

Buck Hendrickson sold a good pair of mules to his brother, Buell, for $325.—Cane Valley Correspondent.

HARNESSING A HORSE.

Unlucky indeed is the horse whose owner does not know enough to fit his harness properly. Particularly should the collar fit the shoulders, and generally some attention paid to that part of the harness, but there are a great many horses that go season after season irritated daily by the rest of the leather not being properly fitted. In these warm days a horse is quite easily galled by anything that rubs continually against him and similarly if the leather is buckled too tightly inflammation ensues and trouble results. There is quite a knack in fitting a harness so that it "is neither too free nor too bind," as the ancient chronicler puts it, and he said that no phrase could be coined that tells the story more forcefully. If the harness is too free it rubs and galls; if it binds it brings about the same result. These deleterious conditions are of course aggravated if some part of the harness is ill fashioned and does not stand snugly to the contour of the animal. In this latter instance no amount of fussing will ever do any good. A few days ago the writer met on the road a farmer driving a high-strung colt of excellent breeding. The youngster was hooked to a cart the shafts of which where flip-flopping about from side to side with every inequality of the highways. The result was that the colt was nearly crazy from irritation. In addition, the back-stray was too short, the back-band too loose and the breeching far too tight. One of the blinders was torn loose from the head-stall of the bridle and was smashed against the head with every toss. It was a sorry outfit indeed. The writer was requested to say what was the matter with the "orney cuss." A cord to tie the blinder in place, the taking of the slack out of the backband, the loosening of the breeching one wrap on the shaft, the pressing into service of the hitching strap to bind the shafts into place and stop their wiggling was the work of only a few moments and when it was done the colt went off easily and apparently grateful for the kindness of a stranger. The owner remarked that he had never before considered that it made any difference how a colt was hooked "just so he could not get away."—Ex.

A LESSON ON ETIQUETTE.

For to these many years the Independent man has been eating corn on the cob by holding one end of the cob, broken, between the two first fingers and the thumb; but those good old days are no more, says the Ashland Independent. It isn't etiquette any more to eat it with the fingers; one must use two highly decorated and becarved little silver forks, one of which is shoved into each end of the cob. Some person—we will take a long shot that it was a woman—has invented the cob fork idea and spoiled all the luxury of going after a luscious ear of corn, all dripping with good country butter and dashed with salt and pepper, with both hands and teeth, some, times with both cheeks as well. Maybe that isn't a dainty way to eat corn from the cob, but it is a mighty good way and easy way. What if one does get the butter up and around his ears and all over his chin? That will all come off with a proper application of the napkin. And now to think that one must, for all time to come, taboo that good old habit, throw aside that dandy, old-fashioned style of disposing of a delicious roasting ear! Shame on you, inventor or inventress. 'Twas an evil day indeed when you sought to do away with the fingers in eating corn from the cob. We hope that, as long as you live, you will never enjoy another roasting ear, but that you will crave the delicacy until your dying day, and that, if you ever do eat another ear, you may stick yourself full of holes with your old forks that have robbed we common people of all the pleasure we ever found in eating corn on the cob.

LOVE PLANTS OF WEST INDIES.

"Did you ever hear of the love plants?" asked Captain Atwater of the schoolship Saratoga, who was showing several visitors over the old craft the other day. "I have several in the cabin."

He showed three small leaves attached to the ceiling by strings. They were without any soil or foundation, but were green, and from each there sprouted a dozen or more little leaves, greener and fresher than the main leaf itself.

"During our last cruise in the West Indies," the Captain continued, "I visited a deserted English fortress, which was grown over with shrubbery. A native plucked several leaves from a vine and told me to hang them some where and write the name of my best girl on them. 'If they die,' he said, 'she does not love you. If they sprout, she does.' I put my wife's name on one and my two daughters names on the others. You see, although they have been without nourishment for three months, all three affections seem assured."

WHAT ARE YOU WORTH?

How much are you worth? Measured by the tapeline of this world's valuation, you are rich or poor worth much or little, according to the $'s you own. Measured by the rule of Heaven you are worth just what you can take with you into the new life. A man who possesses in this life a million dollars is not worth a cent a moment after he is dead. Bank books are out of place in a man's coffin. Shrouds have no pockets. All the wealth of the universe could not purchase a single moment of time, or help a man to retain his hold upon his earthly riches for one hour. You are worth whatever of good deeds you have to your credit on the other side of life. If you have been honest, upright, full of kindness, and have builded your character along these lines, you are rich. If you have been narrow-minded, covetous, grasping, hard-hearted, self-seeking, you are poor indeed, even tho' the wealth of a gold mine is yours.

EDUCATING THE FARMER.

A plea for the education of the American farmer was made by President Butterfield of Rhode Island Agricultural college in a commencement address at Nebraska college. He says what it needed is leadership on the farm.

"The man behind the plow—not the plow, nor the team nor the furrow, but the man—is the chief factor. What sort of people are we to have upon our farms? What is to be their condition? Are they to be owners of the land they till, or tenants on vast estates? Are they to be an intelligent, educated, independent people, or are they to become peasants—a caste of hard working, honest but dull and unpromising men with the hoe? Are the American farmers to keep pace with American civilization, with all that implies of opportunity for social privileges political intelligence, educational endeavor, moral stamina? Or are they to lay behind until hopelessly lost in the distance, with some future Goldsmith to bewail their decadence?"

Every farmer should become a better farmer, and education helps to make him better. The whole American civilization rests upon the basis of education. The development of the rural school is the one vital question that must be settled by the coming generation in its attempt at making better farmers. Besides the schools, farmers' institutes, the press co-operative tests, fairs, all are great factors and are doing more to encourage and advance education.

The farmer must be made to understand, as President Butterfield said, that "the man behind the plow is the chief factor." More brains must be put into the work instead of all muscular energy. "Better farming is the fundamental need of American agriculture to-day," and it is to the knowing farmer that we must look for this better farming; and the knowing one is the educated one.

SOME STRANGE FOODS.

Strange foods are used by people in different parts of the earth. On the California coast men prize the simple sculpin, which is despised by the lowest eaters of fish on the Atlantic seaboard.

Indian children in Arizona are taught to catch ants for the reinforcement of the food supplies. In South America the large lizard, the iguana, is a delicacy, not to speak to the larger snakes, which in taste are like chicken. The ordinary rattlesnake, it is said, is good eating.

Some people devour the common grasshopper with great gusto. Ground to a powder, it is said that these insects make a meal that is at once nourishing and palatable. During the flights of locusts, Indians collect them in bags, wash them and cook them for a meal.

The most singular food, in all probability, is the larva of a fly, common in certain portions of California and known as ephydra. This insect is found in vast quantities in Lake Mono, California, is washed up on the shores in vast windrows and can be collected by bushels.

When the larvae begin to appear the Indians gather from far and near and scrape them up, place the worm-like creatures on clothes in the sun and dry them. Then they are eaten.

GETTING ACQUAINTED AT HOME.

A young fellow who had got into the habit of spending all his evenings away from home was brought to his senses in the following way:

One afternoon his father came to him and asked him if he had any engagement for the evening. The young man had not.

"Well, I'd like to have you go somewhere with me."

The young man himself tells what happened.

"All right, I said. 'Where shall I meet you?'"

"He suggested the Columbian Hotel at 7:30; and I was there. When he appeared, he said he wanted me to call with him on a lady. 'One I knew quite well when I was a young man,' he explained.

"We went out and started straight for home.

"She is staying at our house," he said.

"I thought it strange he should have made the appointment for the Columbian under these circumstances. I said nothing.

"Well, we went in, and I was introduced with all due formality to my mother and sister.

"The situation struck me as funny, and I started to laugh, but the laugh died away. None of the three even smiled. My mother and sister shook hands with me, and my mother said she remembered me as a boy, but hadn't seen much of me lately. Then she invited me to be seated.

"It wasn't a bit funny then, although I can laugh over it now. I sat down, and she told me one or two anecdotes of my boyhood, at which we all laughed for a little. Then we four played games for a while. When I finally retired, I was invited to call again. I went upstairs feeling pretty small, and doing a good deal of thinking."

"And then?" asked his companion.

"Then I made up my mind that my mother was an entertaining woman, and my sister a bright girl.

"I'm going to call again. I enjoy their company and intend to cultivate their acquaintance."—Ex.

Splitting Headache

can be often relieved by a nerve sedative, but the scientific way of treating a headache is to go right down to the real cause, or root of the trouble, and cure it with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is the only perfect cure for headache, dizziness, constipation, and is free from the dangerous after-effects, which so frequently follow the use of headache powders. Try it. Sold by Dr. J. N. Page, Columbia, Ky., and Page & Moore, Cane Valley, Ky., at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

The suit brought by the Owensboro shippers of the State on account of discrimination in rates was decided by the Railroad Commission in favor of the shippers. It is the most important case of the kind ever decided in the United States, and by the decision it is estimated that $8,000,000 a year will be saved the shippers of this State.

Half The World Wonders

how the other half lives. Those who use Bucklen's Arnica Salve never wonder if it will cure Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Sores and all Skin eruptions; they know it will. Mrs. Grant Shy, 1130 E. Reynolds St., Springfield, Ill., says: "I regard it one of the absolute necessities of housekeeping." Guaranteed by T. E. Paule, druggist, 25c.

THE CRIMINAL LIMIT.

The indictment against the Beef Trust contained in President Roosevelt's message to Congress is the most shameful of many chapters which have recently been written in the history of American industrial piracy.

One is appalled at the enormity of the crimes of which the multi-millionaire packers of Chicago are guilty as disclosed by the Government investigators.

It would seem incredible that the owners of these vast businesses would permit food products to be handled under such horribly indecent conditions were we not pretty well advised of the greed and lust for gold at any price which dominates the average American industrial millionaire.

For it must not be forgotten that back of this whole revolting disclosure is the Beef Trust magnate's greed for profits.

It is cheaper to slaughter and pack meat products under the disease-breeding conditions which obtain in the plants of Beef Trust than under sanitary conditions.

That means more millions for the families of the unspeakable Beef Trust poisoners, who in defiance of law, throttle competition and absolutely fix the price of meat food products in this country.

Is there a crime against either law or common decency which the rotten industrial oligarchy of this country will not commit.

Is it any wonder that there is a social unrest? Is it any wonder that, as disclosure after disclosure exposes to view of an outraged people the system and men who first combine to rob and then distribute through the regular channels of trade food unfit for human consumption, a great class hatred should be growing up in this country?

The man who, in the heat of passion, to avenge some real or fancied wrong, commits murder, forfeits his life to the State.

The average murderer is a respectable citizen compared with these Chicago meat packers if but half of the charges against them are true.

By his brave course in the matter of these disclosures Theodore Roosevelt has again proved himself a most fearless champion of the people's rights.

He has made it impossible for any member of Congress to vote against a rigid meat inspection bill and remain in public life.—Elizabethtown News.

Don't Let Baby Cry.

When baby cries, something is probably wrong with its stomach, or other digestive organs, and no time should be lost in giving it a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin. This is the only safe laxative medicine for Babies and Children, and should always be kept in the house. It contains no injurious ingredients, and can do nothing but good. Try it. Sold by Dr. J. N. Page, Columbia, Ky., and Page & Moore, Cane Valley, Ky., at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

William Nelson Cromwell, of New York, counsel for the Panama Canal Company, will be compelled to answer questions propounded by Senator Morgan if a decision reached by Senate Committee on Inter-oceanic Canal can be upheld.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The farmer is a business man, hence must be governed by business principles.

Some farmers won't work, run off and, or die, but can stick closer to a dry goods box at the village than a sick kitten to a hot brick.

Some farmers' gardens are landmarks to the wayside traveler—because the weeds are higher there than elsewhere.

Weeds and ignorance have cost the farmers of the U. S. more than all its wars.

A farmer who can't be taught anything by his successful neighbors is—a smart weed.

The farmer is doubly equipped—he has God and nature on his side, a seed and harvest time promised.

Some farmers remind me of purs lain—they waste their energies in spreading themselves but never get very high.

The gate of opportunity never opens to the farmer who is not prepared. To the one who is, it always stands ajar.

He who makes two blades of grass grow where but one once grew has been called a benefactor, but he who makes each one of the blades do the work it once took two to do, is thrice a benefactor.

It has been said "No man is so far from market as the one who has nothing to sell," but there is another fellow who is further away—the one who can't get there. His capital is locked up and the combination is lost. Let's have better roads.

THE HOME.

Married people would be happier

If home trials were never told to the neighbors.

If they kissed and made up after every quarrel.

If household expenses were proportioned to receipts.

If they tried to be as agreeable as in courtship days.

If each would try and be a support and comfort to the other.

If each remembered the other was a human being, not an angel.

If women were as kind to their husbands as they were to their lovers.

If fuel and provisions were laid in during the high tide of summer work.

If both parties remembered that they married for worse as well as better.

If men were as thoughtful for their wives as they were for their sweethearts.

If there were fewer silk and velvet costumes for the street, and more plain, tidy house dresses.

Wonderful Courage

is displayed by many a poor invalid crushed under the weight of chronic troubles, like constipation, biliousness, neuralgia, headache, stomach trouble, etc. But such suffering, though brave, is quite unnecessary, for Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin will surely cure all these diseases, drive away all the unpleasant symptoms, and restore every invalid to health. Try it. Sold by Dr. J. N. Page, Columbia, Ky., and Page & Moore, Cane Valley, Ky., at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

ROOSEVELT'S TRIBUTE TO LEE.

In his "Life of Thomas Benton," Theodore Roosevelt, now President of the United States, says:

"No man who is not willing to bear arms and to fight for his rights can give a good reason why he should be entitled to the privilege of living in a free community. The decline in the militant spirit in the Northeast during the first half of this century was much to be regretted. To it is due more than to any other cause the undoubted average individual inferiority of the Northeast compared with the Southern troops—at any rate, at the beginning of the great war of the rebellion. The Southerners, by their whole mode of living, their habits, and their love of outdoor sports, kept up their warlike spirit, while in the North the so-called upper classes developed along the lines of a wealthy and timid bourgeoisie type, measuring everything by a mercantile standard (a peculiarly debasing one, if taken purely by itself), and submitting to be ruled in local affairs by low, foreign mobs, and in national matters by their arrogant Southern kinsmen. The militant spirit of these last certainly stood them in good stead in the Civil War. The world has never seen better soldiers than those who followed Lee, and their leader will undoubtedly rank, without any exception, as the very greatest of all the great captains that the English speaking peoples have brought forth; and this although the last and chief of his antagonists may himself claim to stand as the full equal of Marlborough or Wellington.

THE CHARACTER OF LEE.

"When the future historian comes to survey the character of Lee he will find it rising like a huge mountain above the undulating plain of humanity, and he will have to lift his eyes high toward heaven to catch its summit. He was a foe without hate; a friend without treachery; a soldier without murmuring. He was a public officer without vices; a private citizen without wrong; a Christian without hypocrisy, and a man without guilt. He was a Caesar without his ambition; a Frederick without his selfishness, and a Washington without his reward. He was obedient to authority as a servant and royal in authority as a true king. He was gentle as a woman in life; modest and pure as a virgin in thought; watchful as a Roman vestal in duty; submissive to law as Socrates, and grand in battle as Achilles."—Benjamin F. Hill, on the character of Robt. E. Lee.

Pigs often lack vigor because the brood sows are kept too fat. A good thrifty condition is much better for the pigs than too much fat.

The same course of feeding and care that will make a heavy course hog will not make a fine light one. The light hog must be grown quickly and on a fair proportion of nitrogenous food so that he has a good amount of lean meat.

INCORPORATED.

CHAS. S. HARRIS, - - - EDITOR.

Democratic newspaper devoted to the interests of the city of Columbia and the people of Adair and adjacent counties.

Entered at the Columbia Postoffice as second-class mail matter.

WED., JULY 4, 1906.

The name of Hon. James Garnett, of this place, has been favorably mentioned by a number of papers over the State as a proper candidate for the office of Attorney General. Mr. Garnett is not unminful of the many kind expressions, but at this time he is not ready to announce his candidacy. We do not desire to conceal the fact that he is considering the proposition, and future developments may lead him to enter the contest. Four years ago he was urged to make the race, but for good and sufficient reasons he had to decline. His candidacy at this time would be hailed with delight by the Democrats of the Eleventh district, every one of them political fighters from the rising of the sun to the setting thereof. Besides, Mr. Garnett has a wide acquaintance throughout the State. He is a good speaker, a lawyer enjoying a fine practice, and an affable gentleman, popular with every body, and a vote winner. Should he enter the contest and be so fortunate as to receive the nomination on the 6th of November, not a candidate selected would add more strength to the ticket.

The act of the General Assembly which was intended to prevent shipping of whisky into local option counties became a law June 11th, and after seeing its effect for twenty days, we are convinced that it is a success beyond the hopes of its strongest advocates. This law should, in honor of its author, be called the "Mitchell Law" because our neighbor and friend, Hon. J. M. Mitchell, the representative from Green and Taylor counties, introduced and procured its passage. Many important laws were enacted during the last session, but none are so important to the well being of society in Adair, Green, Taylor and other local option counties, as the "Mitchell Law." The citizens of Green and Taylor, irrespective of politics, should re-elect Mr. Mitchell to the Legislature. Truly he is the representative of the people.

Hon. Jas. B. McCreary's announcement for re-election to the United States Senate appears in the News. The Senator has filled a number of honorable positions, and since he has been in the Senate has been a faithful worker in the interest of the commonality of man and for the Democratic party. The race is between him and Gov. Beckham, the decision to be reached by a primary called for November 6, 1906.

Hon. R. W. Miller, of Richmond, died last Friday from paralysis. He had only been sick a few days and his condition was not alarming, but on Thursday slow paralysis took hold and within twenty-four hours he had passed over the river. Mr. Miller was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in his district and had been actively prosecuting his claims. He gained distinction in the last legislature as a man of honest convictions and will-power, and was recognized as a leader. A brilliant, honest, useful man has been taken in the prime of life, a severe loss to that community, a loss to the State and the great Democratic principles which he so ably championed.

Humanity too often fails to see the mud holes in the future while enjoying the luxuries of the good old summer time, but by and by face the proposition when powerless to change conditions. Now, this month, is the time to start the work in Adair County, and build five miles of pike.

Prof. M. O. Winfrey, a former citizen of Adair county, but now a resident of Middlesboro, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Superintendent of Public Instruction. He proposes to canvass the State.

The fiscal court appointed a committee to see the stone crusher tested last April but the Jarlies and Katydids are singing and still it sets undisturbed on the public square. The town Marshal should have it removed.

It is what we do and not so much what we say that opens the door of hope, that transforms indifference into activity and gives encouragement to others. Why not start the rock crusher?

Noble resolutions are not worth a pinch of snuff if paralyzed in infancy by indifference. The building of a few miles of pike in this county seems to be in the stretch of despair for 1906.

Enterprise and Thrift are twins. They go hand in hand. Start the machinery for macadam roads.

That crusher, on the square, ought to be mashing stones.

Congress adjourned last Saturday.

A CARD.

Middlesboro, Ky., June 25, 1906.—To the Democrats of Kentucky: I am a candidate for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, to be held November next.

In asking for this office, I feel that I have at least a fair claim to the support of friends of education throughout the State, and especially from that great body of men and women who have so faithfully co-operated with me in the recent struggles for educational legislation.

I have for many years past done what I could to promote the cause of public education, and have, during the past two years, exerted every effort within my power to secure a system of State Normal Schools for the professional training of teachers, as well as various other measures of importance to our common schools. The success of these efforts is now a matter of record on the statute books of Kentucky.

If my services in behalf of the common schools of the State have been such as to commend me to favorable consideration for this high and responsible office, I shall be glad to receive the hearty support of all good citizens who believe in educational progress and in a system of education that will give a "square deal to the children."

If nominated and selected I shall stand firmly and persistently for—

First—Better schools and better trained teachers.

Second—Better schoolhouses and better equipment.

Third—Longer terms and larger salaries.

Fourth—Local support and compulsory attendance.

Fifth—A common school system of which every citizen will be justly proud.

NO PARTISAN POLITICS.

I shall also continue to strive in the future, as I have in the past, to eliminate partisan politics, sectarianism and personalities from our public schools; to unify all our educational interests, from the country school to the university, into one strong, harmonious factor for good, and to elevate the work of teaching to the dignity of a profession, with compensation commensurate with its requirements and its obligations.

Earnestly soliciting the support and co-operation of all public-spirited citizens and friends of education, and promising a faithful, earnest and active administration of the duties with which I ask to be intrusted, I am very respectfully,

M. O. WINFREY.

SENATOR McCREARY ANNOUNCES.

To the Democrats of Kentucky:

I have in various newspaper interviews declared my candidacy for United States Senator, and I now, over my own signature, submit to you my candidacy for the nomination as United States Senator according to the plan announced by the Democratic Executive Committee of Kentucky.

For the honor conferred upon me in 1902, when I was elected United States Senator, I am sincerely grateful. I have tried to be faithful and efficient, and the manner in which I have discharged my official duties I leave to the unprejudiced judgment of the people of Kentucky.

I have always been in favor of primary elections, fairly and legally held, and I have always been opposed to bossism and machine rule. When I was first a candidate for United States Senator the other candidates and myself agreed to a primary election to be held two months before the election of United States Senator by the General Assembly, but the State Democratic Committee did not deem it best for the good of the Democratic party, and refused to order the election.

The proposed primary election is ordered to be held many months earlier than any primary election to nominate either State officers or United States Senator, was ever held in Kentucky or any other State. For many years primaries or conventions in our State to nominate State officials have been held in May or June of the year in which the candidates nominated were to be voted for at the November election, and it has been heretofore believed that said primaries should not occur when presidential or congressional elections are held, so that National and State issues would be separated.

The primary election ordered to be held on the 6th day of next November will occur on regular election day, when Representatives in Congress will be elected, and this primary election was called eighteen months before the election of a United States Senator by the General Assembly, and two years and eight months before the Senator elected can take his seat in the United States Senate, and the candidates for State offices will be nominated twelve months before they can be elected, and the call for a primary to nominate them so early is in violation of the rule adopted by the Democrats at the last State convention in 1904.

The success of the Democratic party should be paramount to the success of any individual, and the governing authorities of the Democratic party should act for the benefit of whole Democrat party and not for the benefit of a few Democrats.

The outlook for Democratic victory in the next national election is brighter than it has been in years, and becoming more favorable every day. Kentucky Democrats should give no aid to rule or ruin policies, but uphold wise and just policies that will keep Kentucky in the Democratic column with an increased Democratic majority.

I have perfect confidence in the Democrats of Kentucky, and I willingly and gladly submit to their judgment and their action my aspirations to a second term in the United States Senate.

I have always been a faithful, loyal Democrat; I have worked and made speeches in every campaign in our State for thirty years and I have always when in office given all of my attention to the faithful discharge of my duties, and when our State had been Republican for several years, I was requested by the Democratic authority to take charge of the campaign in 1900. I managed the campaign, visited many counties in the State and organized and made many speeches, and with aid of my brother Democrats we redeemed the State from Republican rule and gave a majority to our candidate for Governor and our candidate for President.

Precedents are not lacking in Kentucky for giving to her Senators, whose services have been satisfactory, second and third terms, and as Democrats have not objected to or criticised my record I am asking for an endorsement.

Legislation on important questions and great issues now before our country concern the welfare of the people more than ever before, and I trust my experience and my investigation make me better equipped for faithful and efficient discharge of my duties if I am re-elected.

The Democratic party in Kentucky is small when both political parties vote their full strength. Our majorities in recent years as compared with those of twenty-five years ago, admonish us of earnest and united party action. Every Democrat who participates in the primary election should endeavor to strengthen our party and improve its prospects for victory at the regular election by

DIED

Last Sunday afternoon Mr. J. W. Furgerson, who resided on Green river, after a long illness, closed his eyes in death. He was 67 years old and was a victim of consumption. He was a good citizen and will be greatly missed by his family and friends. He did not believe in Church organization, but he was strictly religious, the Bible being his constant companion.

Gentlemen of the Council, you were elected under the caption of the progressive ticket—you swept the deck as it were. The people looked forward for a general move expecting you to keep faith with the spirit implied in the name under which you were elected. You started with vain, vigor, and good judgment. A stone crusher was purchased, plows for building side walks were brought into existence, extension of lights were considered. True, you have swung more lights, started a good work in the cemetery, but the crusher is rusting on the public square, the streets not benefited by its purchase, and the miserable side walks still exist. The Summer will soon be gone. Delays are dangerous, the necessity for better walks imperative and you stand with the power to give progress or invite decay. A move on your part would not only bring needed improvements to Columbia but would stimulate enterprise in the county.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

The following licenses were issued from the Adair county clerk's office during the month of June: Ed Comer to Miss Viola Gibson. B. R. Bailey to Miss Lora Absher. Geo. T. Flowers, Jr., to Miss Willie Eades. Alvan R. Thomas to Miss Eliza Shoop. Luther Conover to Miss Lula M. Bradshaw.

Ulas Short to Miss Ollie Franklin. Chas. R. Payne to Miss Cora Simpson. Ethridge Earles to Miss Lillie Rowe. James Franklin to Miss Lizzie Jones.

THE RAILROAD.

It begins to look like the promoters of the road from Stanford to Scottsville mean business. A surveying party is now running the line and last Friday they had reached a point this side of Dunnville. They are expected to reach Columbia in a few days and from here they will go to Scottsville. Quite a number of persons here have great faith in the project, and we are told that the Casey county citizens are very enthusiastic. When the surveying party reaches here, we hope to be able to give a fuller account of the proposed enterprise.

There was an all day singing and religious services at Zion last Sunday. There was an immense crowd present and the day was one that will long be remembered, every body enjoying the occasion. The good people of the neighborhood prepared dinner for every body in attendance. People who reside in that locality are known for their hospitality, but upon this occasion they out did themselves. After hundreds had been fed there were many baskets of provisions left.

PERSONAL

Mrs. J. K. Robertson and family, Mr. Jerome Hurt and Mrs. Edwin Hurt, Mr. Sam Shreve and family and Mr. S. N. Hancock left for Elda, New Mexico, yesterday morning. Mr. Hancock will return in a few weeks. The others named will locate.

There were so many people here the week of the "Home Coming," that we failed to mention the names of quite a number. In the rush our own Dr. J. H. Grady failed to get a notice. But he knows that every body was delighted to see him, and would be glad if he would again become a citizen of Columbia.

STATE COLLEGE OF KENTUCKY, Lexington, Ky.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State) College of Kentucky, offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, Chemical, Biological, Mechanical, Physical, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Mining Engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a Master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty numbers nearly fifty professors and instructors.

County appointees receive tuition, room rent in dormitories, fuel and light, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses. The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern. Military tactics and science are fully provided for as required by Congress.

Graduates from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remuneration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the College to supply. The matriculation for the last year was, including Summer school, 815.

Specialists with the necessary number of assistants have charge of each department of natural science. Summer school are provided for pedagogy, engineering and instruction in sciences and arts.

The State College of Kentucky is the only institution in the Commonwealth doing in proper sense university work. The completion of college home for young women provides facilities for good board and lodging. It is well equipped with all modern conveniences, including bath rooms and a room for physical culture. It is heated by steam and lighted by electricity.

An opportunity is thus afforded to them of a thorough education in classics, modern languages, literature, science, mathematics, logic, metaphysics, history and political economy. No other institution in the State offers advantages for the education of women at all comparable to those offered by the State College of Kentucky.

A new Library Building will, through the generosity of Mr. Andrew Carnegie, be erected during the next Collegiate year. The Normal Department will be on a better footing than ever heretofore. Last year's largely increased attendance, with the unprecedented growth of the Summer Normal School, both indicate that an era of prosperity is upon the State College of Kentucky.

COAKLEY & SIMMS BROS.

Mr. J. B. Barbee sold his stock in vehicles of the Columbia live stock week to Mr. W. O. Pile for $2,500 and the latter is now in charge of the stable. Before this sale was made Mr. Barbee sold to different parties a number of horses and other attachments, making a total of $4,700 realized for the outfit. A few weeks ago he purchased of Massie & Co., the stable and lot and all the stock, vehicles, etc., for $8,000. Deduct $4,750 from $8,000 and the stable and lot has cost him $3,250. Cheap property.

The attention of our readers is called to the statements of the condition of the Bank of Cumberland and the Bank of Marrowbone, published in to-days paper. They make good reports, showing that they are in healthy conditions.

In another column appears the statement of the condition of the Bank of Columbia. It shows that the institution is doing a fine business. It is the oldest banking-house in this part of Kentucky, and is managed by recognized financiers.

A HEN ON AT FRANKFORT.

There is a slip in the cogs of the Frankfort Machine and things political are not running as smooth as they have been politically in the capital city. Judge Hagar who was slated as the candidate for Governor has not announced, although all the other machine candidates have come out. The cog that has slipped is in the Governor's race and it is intimated that Governor Beckham, who has a political head as long as a fence rail, is a little afraid that Hagar's candidacy would handicap his aspirations for the United States Senate. Hagar has been in office for eight years. Four years as Treasurer and four as Auditor. This fact and his personality does not make him a specially strong man for Governor. Then he is not a speaker, and a candidate for Governor has to go upon the stump. The Democrats have never nominated a candidate for Governor who could not make a speech and most of them have been spellbinders. Governor Beckham is so strong that he might pull Hagar through, but with his usual sagacity Beckham wants a running mate to help him and not a dead weight to carry. Hence this thunders at Frankfort and no announcement from Hagar. There is another significant thing. McCreary is an announced candidate against Beckham for United States Senator. He is about as shrewd as we make down in Kentucky. He can see the hand writing on the wall that the young Governor has all the best of it in a primary election. A few days ago he was at Frankfort and dined with Governor Beckham. There were some things talked there that have not come out. The News has done some pretty good guessing recently and we believe that we can give the public a tip as to what these two very smooth gentlemen decided to do. They probably went over the whole situation very carefully and especially the danger to the party in the November election if a ticket was made up entirely of machine candidates. Governor Beckham probably suggested to Senator McCreary that this condition of affairs could be prevented, that all danger of party defeat could be removed and that the primary in November would become dead easy. Senator McCreary of course wanted to know how this could be done without hurting him. Beckham then told him.

Withdraw from the race for the Senate and become a candidate for Governor. Unite your forces with mine. I will succeed you in the Senate and you will succeed me as Governor. It is very pretty plan. It brings strength to McCreary. We do not know of course whether the senator saw it, but we believe he did and that he will become a candidate for Governor in a short while. Of course this would leave Hagar high and dry, but something will be given him if he will accept it, and if he don't then he will just be left out in the cold. This is our tip as what happened in Frankfort last week. As to how it will work we are not prepared to say, if it don't work it will be the first mistake that gang ever made. It is known, that while McCreary has never been with the machine, he has never been against it and that he helped Blackburn very little, if any. Stranger things have happened than we have outlined above. —Elizabethtown News.

Amazing.

It is amazing how many mothers will give their children medicines containing violent and dangerous drugs for bowel and stomach disorders, when better results, with absolute safety, can be obtained by the use of a pure, pleasant, harmless remedy like Dr. Caldwell's (Cassidy) Syrup Pepsin. Try it at once. Sold by Dr. J. N. Page, Columbia, Ky., and Page & Moore, Cane Valley, Ky., at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

A Kenwood man consented the other day to go to the millinery department to help his wife decide on a hat. After much trying on the lady decided on two hats from which to make her selection. One of them was $24, the other $16.

"Now I want you to tell me honestly, George," she said, "which of these two you would advise me to get."

Then she put one on after the other and permitted him to view her from in front, each side and from behind.

"Well, I'll tell you," he said, "the one you had on first looks to me as if it might be more stylish and all that, but the second one makes you look much younger than you do in the other."

He had wasted an hour, but he saved $8.—Ex.

Wisconsin's Republican Secretary of State, Walter E. Houser, is charged with attempted bribery and a warrant has been issued for his arrest. The accused man, who will be prosecuted by District Attorney Gilbert, a leading candidate for the office of attorney general, announced his own candidacy for a third term. The complaint against the secretary is made by State Insurance Commissioner Host, who charges that Houser in 1903 offered to contribute $2,000 to the Republican campaign fund if the commissioner would render a decision favorable to a certain company. But why has the latter waited three years before preferring charges? Was it hoped that Houser might raise the ante?

THE VALUE OF FORM.

Wahoo the Chippewa catcher of the Carlisle Indians, said the other day of form:

"Form in athletics as in everything else, counts for much. Form helps a man to do his stunts more easily. It also bluffs his opponents, making them think him better than he actually is.

"Yes, form in many ways gets us through at half the labor and at half the cost.

"There was a man who dined regularly at a certain restaurant. He paid so much per week. One night at dinner he called the waiter over and said, frowning:

"Your portions are very small again this evening. As an old customer I generally have two pieces of beef, but to-night you have only brought me one."

"By gum, sir, you're right," exclaimed the waiter. The cook must have forgot to cut it in two."

TRUSTING A MAN FOR A DOLLAR.

John B. Munday, of the California Dispatch, gives the following good and sufficient reasons why the country publisher continues sending the paper after the subscription date has expired:

"We were asked this week by a delinquent subscriber why we kept on sending the paper after the subscription date had expired. Every weekly newspaper in towns of this size is forced to do this. Should we stop subscriptions when time expires nine times out of ten the subscriber would give us a 'calling down' for insinuating that his credit was not good. Rather than to cast a reflection against the honesty of a subscriber to pay a small debt, it is next to necessity for a home paper to continue sending the paper after the time has expired. It is not necessary for the city dailies or weeklies to follow this rule as their subscribers live at a distance and are not personal friends as is the case with a majority of our subscribers.

"Our subscribers should deem it an honor to know that we do not doubt their integrity and continue to send them the paper after their time has expired. Should any desire their paper discontinued they should notify us and remit to date if they have not already done so."

ONE-HALF MILE FROM COLUMBIA ON DISAPPOINTMENT

Good natured people are a blessing wherever they be. They may not set the world on fire, they may not make the most money, but they leave an aroma of happiness in their wake that is better than any thing in this world. To feel good toward your fellows and to be able to express that feeling at the proper time and as often as need be, is a gift more precious than gold for jewels. It is also as rare as great riches.

PELTYTON.

The excessive amount of rain which has recently fallen has put farmers far behind with their work. Corn is growing in height rapidly but the stalk is too slim and small. It very seldom grows and develops right when it runs up so rapidly during a rainy period. Grass is growing rapidly and there are much better prospects for hay than there were a few weeks ago. Wheat is all cut and is fairly good.

The health of this community is fairly good, there being scarcely any patients under the care of physicians. Miss Kate Rubarts, who has been sick for some time, is not improving. Dr. L. F. Hammond, assisted by Dr. O. Durham, has charge of the case.

Rev. J. H. Pawley, the Methodist Minister for this circuit, visited the family of J. H. Pelly recently. Bro. Pawley is an exceedingly social gentleman, is a good speaker, and is deservedly popular with people of all denominations in this community, and we trust is doing much good in his chosen field of work.

Mr. Walker Absher, in many respects one of the best farmers in this section, had the misfortune of having a large part of over six hundred shocks of wheat which he had just gotten cut and shocked, blown down by a recent storm of wind and rain. Part of it will probably rot.

The public school for Barnetts Creek district, which will be taught by S. L. Coffey, will begin on Monday, July 2nd. W. S. Sinclair will teach at Pellyton. Speaking of schools reminds us of some of the greatest obstacles in the way of the progress of the schools, such as failure on the part of so many pupils to attend, irregular attendance, want of a suitable house and apparatus, the necessity for a better supply of text books and so forth, and the question is, how can all these be obtained. We reply, when the masses of the people really want better schools they will have them and no sooner.

A strong, healthy sentiment on the part of the people, generally, in favor of good schools will remove these obstacles and establish a better system of public education. It is a self evident fact that the common school system of this State, and this is pre-eminently the school of the poor man and the great common people, is not in keeping with the demands of the present day. It is not preparing its pupils to meet the requirements of the present-day life.

J. F. Allen accompanied by a corps of men, is surveying in this vicinity on the proposed railroad from Stanford to Scottsville. Mr. Allen is enthusiastic over the proposed road, and says he thinks it will undoubtedly be built. Let us hope that inspite of doubts and fears, that that great source of prosperity and civilization, will be an established fact, and that such a wave of business prosperity may sweep over Adair county and Columbia as has never been seen before.

Your reporter had the pleasure of attending the "Adair County Home Coming" and was favorably impressed with the excellent behavior of the crowd. In conversation with a prominent citizen of the county the remark was made that the order was first-rate, and this was the reply: "There is always good order at Columbia's public gatherings. The 'toughs' know they must behave here. We have an efficient set of officers and our county should be proud of its sheriff. He is going to do his duty by the violators of the law." We thought this comment spoke volumes in honor of Columbia and her peace officers.

Last Winter and Spring your reporter had the pleasure of spending a few months in your excellent town in the capacity of teacher in one of the schools, and has since had a desire to express through your splendid paper the impressions a sojourn has on leaving Columbia. The claims made by the citizens and press of your town, in regard to the kindness and hospitality of its people, are not exaggerated but fail to do it full justice, at least such was my experience. Surely no other place can boast of more courteous and obliging business men; they make you feel at home from the time you enter their places of business, and you feel it is good to be there. They combine hospitality, friendship and business, and this makes their business grow. The freedom from prejudice, and the genuine spirit and brotherly kindness existing between the churches is another worthy of comment. Indeed it was often difficult to tell who were the members composing the membership of a church because the different churches were so liberally attended by members of other churches, and it was pleasing indeed to note that the ministers seemed to encourage by their example this commendable spirit of charity.

Columbia has a just right to be proud of her splendid moral citizenship, her kind and charitable men and women, her newspapers, her schools, her business men, her lawyers, her doctors and her churches. May her population increase, new houses be built, her schools grow larger, her prosperity continue, and all other blessings be added to the good old town of Columbia.

S. L. COFFEY.

A Modern Miracle.

"Truly miraculous seemed the recovery of Mrs. Mollie Holt, of this place," writes J. O. R. Hooper, Woodford, Tenn., "she was so wasted by coughing up puss from her lungs. Doctors declared her end so near that her family had watched by her bed-side forty-eight hours; when, at my urgent request Dr. King's New Discovery was given her, with the astonishing result that improvement began, and continued until she finally completely recovered, and is a healthy woman today." Guaranteed cure for coughs and colds. 50c and $1.00 at T. E. Paul's Druggist. Trial bottle free.

LOCALS.

We call attention to the first statement of the Citizens Bank, found in another column of this paper. The Bank opened for business on the 22nd of last March and its statement shows how well it has succeeded. As compared with other similar institutions it has made a most creditable showing in the transaction of business and gives weight to our statements of the constantly increase of expanding industries of this section.
